

EDUCATION

THE DAILY JEFFERSONIAN

Teachers present at symposium

Two local elementary school teachers recently presented at a Better Mathematics Through Literacy symposium in Marietta. Jodi McGuire, 1, and J.J. Smith, both third grade teachers at Central Elementary School, completed a year-long project that focused on using literacy in math. They also focused on math in our daily lives. The project was sponsored by Ohio University. OU will sponsor another year-long project beginning this summer with classes to be held at the Pritchard Laughlin Civic Center. For more information contact OU.